

Constellation West CEO Wolford Shares Insight on Government Cyber Needs, Industry Trends on Federal News Radio

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21, 2015 — Lisa Wolford, president and CEO of Constellation West, a leading provider of mission-critical technology solutions for the U.S. government and one of the fastest-growing service-disabled veteran-owned, women-owned, small disadvantaged businesses in the country, was interviewed on “In Depth” last week on Federal News Radio in Washington, D.C.

Ms. Wolford shared her strategic insight with the show's host Francis Rose about the changing emphasis on cybersecurity and the importance of continuous diagnostics for federal customers to successfully strengthen and protect networks against cyber threats. She also discussed her company's role in working closely with government customers to increase understanding about compliance as the first step in transitioning to a solutions-based environment.

Federal News Radio is a primary source for news and information about the business of the federal government for federal managers and contractors. The interview was part of a series to feature finalists for this year's Greater Washington Government Contractor Awards. Wolford is a finalist in the Executive of the Year category for companies up to $75 million. GovCon Awards will be announced at an awards gala in Tysons Corner on Nov. 5.
