

Constellation West Promotes Mark Redford to Director of Business Development

WASHINGTON & OMAHA, Neb. March 24, 2015 — Constellation West, a leading provider of mission-critical technology solutions for the U.S. government and one of the fastest-growing service-disabled veteran-owned, women-owned, small disadvantaged businesses in the country, announced today it has promoted Mark A. Redford to director of business development.

“Mark has been a highly valuable member of our team, and we are pleased to be able to offer him this opportunity to advance his career as part of our team,” said Lisa Wolford, president and CEO of Constellation West. “As an Air Force veteran, Mark has extensive military leadership experience and a proven track record with the Air Force Weather Agency. His experience and commitment have already been tremendous assets to our company, and we anticipate he will continue to contribute in meaningful ways to our growth and success.”

In his new position, Redford will be responsible for providing business development support, contract execution, and defense and intelligence community subject matter expertise. Additionally, his key oversight responsibilities include strategic planning, business capture and proposal support, program management, pipeline development, and internal/external coordination.

Redford previously held several leadership positions within the federal contracting and defense industries, including as program manager at CACI Federal. Before entering the private sector, Redford served for 27 years in the U.S. Air Force, completing his career as chief enlisted manager for the Air Force Weather Agency at Offutt Air Force Base. During his career he served in various positions at the wing, major command and air staff levels.

Redford graduated from Touro University International with a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration and human resource management. He also holds an associate degree in applied science in weather technology from the Community College of the Air Force.
