

Constellation West on Winning Team for $496M Space and Missile Defense Command IDIQ

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21, 2015 — Constellation West, a leading provider of mission-critical technology solutions for the U.S. government and one of the fastest-growing service-disabled veteran-owned, women-owned, small disadvantaged businesses in the country, announced today it has been awarded the Space and Missile Defense Advisory and Assistance Services (SMDA2S) IDIQ from the U.S. Army Space and Missile Defense Command/Army Forces Strategic Command as a subcontractor to Boecore Inc. The contract has a ceiling value of $496 million over a five-year period.

“We are honored to be part of the team supporting USASMDC/ARSTRAT,” said Lisa Wolford, president and CEO of Constellation West. “The important work under this IDIQ is integral to the continuing security of our nation, and we look forward to contributing our extensive subject matter expertise in these domains.”

Constellation West will provide technical advisory assistance and operational support services for various USASMDC/ARSTRAT mission areas covered by the IDIQ, including missile defense, global strike, cyber operations, warfighter training, friendly force tracking and commercial imagery.

Boecore, a woman-owned small business based in Colorado Springs, Colorado, is one of four prime awardees on the SMDA2S contract. The Constellation West team will support the Boecore team in Colorado Springs and Huntsville, Alabama, as well as locations in Texas and the National Capital Region.
